

QUIET IN MEXICO AFTER ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION

President Ortiz Suffers From Wound in Jaw Given
By Flores

YOUNG FANATIC

Niece of President Shot in The Neck; Three Others
Struck

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—(INS)— Quiet reigned here today following the attempted assassination of President Pascual Ortiz Rubio which almost turned his inaugural day into a day of dire tragedy for Mexico.

Suffering from a wound in the jaw inflicted by a shot from the revolver of a youthful Mexican fanatic named Daniel Flores, the President passed a comfortable night and was declared to be out of danger today.

Dona Josefina Ortiz De Rubio, wife of the president, whose ear was nipped by another bullet of the would-be assassin when he whipped out a revolver and fired six shots in quick succession at the presidential car after the inaugural, was in a state of nervous collapse. Her wound, however, was not serious.

Senorita Maria Roch, niece of the President, who was shot in the neck, was resting easily today. The other three who were struck by bullets from Flores' gun, Lieutenant Soutenes Garcia, military aide to the President, the chauffeur of the presidential car, and a bystander, suffered only minor injuries. All three were suffering from inconsequential flesh wounds.

Police vigilance was redoubled today to guard against any outbreaks which might possibly follow yesterday's incident but there was no indication that martial law would be instituted.

Meanwhile every effort was made to ascertain what motivated Flores to commit his act. All night long he was subjected to a severe third degree by the police. Several hours after the attempted assassination seven suspects were arrested.

The police, however, have not stated definitely whether Flores' act was part of a conspiracy instigated by Communists or by followers of Jose Vasconcelos, defeated candidate at the last presidential election, who wished to produce governmental chaos and gain political control.

Some officials indicated they leaned toward the latter view, inasmuch as a plot to assassinate the President, his cabinet and former President Portes Gil, was recently uncovered and attributed to Vasconcelistas. Others were of the opinion that Flores' act was part of a Communist plot.

KING OF TIMBUCTOO SEEKS HAPPY WOMAN

Busy Bees of Zion Lutheran Church Assist in The Search

PLAY FRIDAY NIGHT

According to the constitution of Timbuctoo, the king is allowed to reign but twenty-five years, at the end of which time he is retired on half pay and the throne goes to the next heir.
However, the king must also produce, before the end of his reign, one happy woman or lose his job and his head.

Such being the case, the king has arrived in Bristol seeking for the happy woman so that he may keep his head attached to his shoulders. His search, so far has proved unsuccessful and he has finally enlisted the services of the Busy Bee Girls' Society of Zion Lutheran Church, Jefferson avenue and Wood street, to aid him in his predicament.

The girls have jumped at the chance, and on Friday night they are presenting the two-act musical comedy, "The King of Timbuctoo" at Lutheran Hall. The play is full of comedy and songs, and a good performance is looked for. The novelty of the performance is that while the piece was written for adult performers the parts will be played by girls ranging from eight to fifteen years of age, the one exception being the part of the King, which will be played by a lone male.

This organization of youngsters last year presented the musical comedy, "Circus Days," under the same conditions and a repetition of their former success is expected. Among those taking part are: Ysabel Arellano, Mabel Bickel, Lillian McDonald, Theda VanSeiver, Dora Sheetz, Greta Kuensel, Jane Davies, Maud Griffie, Winifred Flynn, Elizabeth Berger, Mildred Smoyer, Elizabeth Daniels, with Laura Bickel at the piano.

Man Critically Hurt When Car Hits Pole

Joseph Piscopo, 23 years old, of Baker street and Central avenue, Morrisville, was seriously injured late yesterday afternoon when the machine he was driving crashed into a telegraph pole on the Lincoln Highway just west of Morrisville.

He is in a critical condition at St.
Francis Hospital, Trenton, with a shattered jaw, fractured ribs and collapsed lungs, lacerations of the face, and possible fracture of the skull. It is also feared that his lung may be punc-tured.

Piscopo, a fireman on the Pennsylvania Railroad, was driving home from work when in some manner he lost control of his roadster and crashed head-on into a pole with such force as to completely wreck the car.

Joseph Conroy, of Hulmeville, found the victim lying alongside the wrecked machine and took him to the hospital, where Drs. Franklin, Haney and Touch operated immediately in an effort to save his life.

Pennsylvania State troopers of the Morristown station investigated the mishap.

SPECIAL OFFICER WILL GUARD HIGH SCHOOL

Order and Quiet To Be Maintained When Building
Is In Use

BOARD TAKES ACTION

At the regular meeting of the public school board, held on Tuesday evening of this week, it was decided to employ a special officer to guard the outside of the gymnasium building in the sixth ward, on the evenings when it is being used.

Ever since the erection of the building three years ago, the boys and young men who gather on the outside of the auditorium, when it is being used, have caused no end of trouble by their misbehavior and their destructive policies. The building has been broken into on several occasions, glass has been broken in the windows and as a climax, the beautiful plush curtain upon the stage was ripped, by the boys swinging upon it.

The board has been loath to take any drastic action, because of the humiliation which would be visited upon the parents in the event of their boy being arrested. However, the limit of endurance has been reached, and the board felt compelled to take the action necessary to protect its property.
Arthur Lippincott, who has had experience as a railroad detective, has been employed, as the special officer, with instructions to show no favoritism, but to rigidly enforce the law.
The boys and young men who have the past, should take warning and stay away from the building, or they will find themselves in the clutches of the law. The officer will begin his duties tonight, Thursday evening, on the occasion of the class night exercises.

SERVICE TONIGHT

The P. O. of A. will conduct services for the late Mrs. Salesa L. Schell at 502 Pond street tonight at 8 o'clock.
All members are requested to meet at the late residence of the deceased.

CHARITY CARD PARTY

A charity card party will take place at Hibernian Hall tomorrow evening.
Favorite games will be played, and prizes include: Card table, Thermos bottle, glassware, embroidery work, etc.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, SR., IN TWO BRIEF INTERVIEWS, STATES THAT HEALTH IS "FINE" AND REMARKS THAT HIS GOLF IS "PRETTY GOOD"

Philanthropist Says He Never Felt Better—Alert and Active
For One of 91 Years — Tells in Talk About Business That It Will Continue to Improve

By James L. Kilgallen
L. N. S. Staff Correspondent (Copyright 1930 by International News Service)

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6.— John D. Rockefeller, Sr., today granted this correspondent two brief but interesting interviews, one at the golf links, the other at his home. In one he discussed his health which he said is "fine," and his golf which is "pretty good." In the other interview he cautiously touched on business.

"I never felt better," declared the world famous philanthropist and founder of the Standard Oil Company in speaking of his health. And he assuredly seemed alert and active for a man who will be ninety-one years old on July 8 next.

Concerning business conditions Mr.
Rockefeller said:

"We have to be patient. We have got to cut expenses down. Business will continue to improve but we must be patient."

It was the first and only time Mr.
Rockefeller has said a word on business since the epochal statement he issued late last fall when prices were crashing downward on the New York stock exchange and chaos reigning in Wall street. From the seclusion of his estate at Pocantico Hills, N. Y., he formally announced at that time that he and his son, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., were "buying stocks" and that they had the utmost confidence in the basic structure of American business.

Mr. Rockefeller still is optimistic on business. He indicated that plainly enough in this, one of his exceedingly rare interviews. He did not want to touch on business at all because "they"—meaning no doubt the Standard Oil officials in New York—would not like it. After he had expressed his opinion of business he caught himself up and remarked: "You better not use that." But, urged to allow it to go into print, he capitulated.

He was edging toward the first tee to play his daily eight holes of golf over the Ormond Beach links at the time. He was scheduled to tee off at precisely 10.15 and John D. or "Neighbor John" as the folks down here call him is the personification of punctuality.

The Rockefeller limousine had pulled up before the palm-shaded entrance to the golf course a few minutes before. In the car were those who were to make up the foursome—Mr.
Rockefeller, John P. White, of Cleveland, his pretty daughter, Betty White, and Major Max Oser, who is the husband of Mrs. Mathilde McCormick Oser, Mr. Rockefeller's granddaughter.

"Good morning," said Mr. Rockefeller genially to a handful of tourists who were there to catch a glimpse of the man who has made more money and given away more money than any other man in the world.

Slightly stooped of shoulders yet surprisingly active, he walked toward the group of tourists. He asked a little boy in a Buster Brown suit what his name was. It was "Art."

"Is Art a good boy," he asked the young woman who had the lad in charge. He was. So "Neighbor John" dug down in the long pants he wears even when playing golf and produced a brand new dime which he gave to the wide-eyed boy. Then Mr. Rockefeller shook hands with other visitors, including Mr. and Mrs. Albert George-rich, of Dubuque, Iowa, and E. Wesselhoff, a business man of Peoria, Illinois, thanking them for coming to see him.

Soon he was on the first tee, addressing the ball. He did not look his ninety years as he stood there, peering down the fairway. His small blue eyes were alert, interested. He wore a gray pinch-back coat, long trousers and a gray cap pulled down over his

MAN DROPS DEAD IN HIS OWN GARAGE

Thomas E. Holland, 57, Dies Suddenly of Heart Attack
At His Home

LIVED HERE 33 YEARS

A Buckley street resident dropped dead yesterday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock, while working on his own premises. Death was due to heart disease, according to Deputy Coroner W. Furman Young.

Thomas E. Holland, 57, along with Howard Edwards, a friend, was demolishing a garage on the Holland property at 133 Buckley street. Edwards left Holland for a few minutes and went into the Holland home.
When he returned to the garage located on the rear of the property, he found Holland lying dead on the floor of the building.

The deceased had not expressed any indications of illness and it is presumed that perhaps some undue exertion caused a sudden heart attack.

Mr. Holland was a native of Glen Riddle, Pa., and had lived in Bristol about 33 years. He was employed in the Warner J. Steel mill for 21 years and in the Leedom mills for five years.
A wife, one son and a daughter survive.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at about 2 o'clock from the late residence of the deceased, and burial will be made in the Bristol Cemetery.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph Barton, of Madison street, is ill at his parents' home.

TAFT APPEARS TO BE SOMEWHAT IMPROVED

Distinguished Patient Is Responding to Mental Relief By Release of Cares

HOOVER CALLS ON HIM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(INS)— William Howard Taft appeared today to be responding to the mental relief of being back in his own home, and of being without the cares of official duty for the first time in many years.

It was in the hope the former president would rally from his present dangerous physical relapse that his doctors arbitrarily ordered him to resign as Chief Justice of the United States and brought him back to Washington from a three-week sojourn in Asheville, N. C. Their official bulletins in the last twenty-four hours seem to have justified their action, for according to those bulletins, he gained a little ground soon after being returned to his Wyoming avenue residence and has held it ever since.

In any event, the original tension has lessened. The physicians do not hold out much hope for an ultimate complete recovery, for their 72-year old patient is suffering from arteriosclerosis, complicated by a bladder infection, but the half-voiced fears of Tuesday that Taft was in the midst of a probably fatal crisis were less noticeable today.

President and Mrs. Hoover found their friend "sitting up and cheerful" when they called yesterday afternoon.
The last medical bulletin issued verified the statement he was suffering virtually no pain and had been able to get some solid rest.

Ordinarily quiet, Wyoming avenue where it passes the Taft home was pretty much abuzz today. A policeman stood by to direct traffic if necessary; reporters and photographers wandered up and down the sidewalk, and their combined presence caused passers-by to stop sporadically and form small groups.

Drs. Thomas Clayton and Francis Hagner, in attendance, planned to issue a condition bulletin late in the forenoon following their morning consultation.

8 'n' 40 Meets Here In Business Session

At the headquarters of Robert W.
Bracken Post, No. 382, American League, the February meeting of Bucks County Salon, No. 74, of the 8 'n' 40 Societe was held last evening, with a goodly number of members in attendance. The chair was occupied by Mrs.
George Croner, of Bristol, president.

It was decided to conduct a food exchange at the March meeting to be held here on the 12th instant. A Valentine dance is also being arranged for the benefit of the organization, this to be staged in Cornwells Heights on Friday, February 14th.

At the conclusion of the business held, with prizes being given the winners. Favors were lollipops covered with red paper, each having a musical note in the form of cardboard attached. Decorations and prizes were all in keeping with the Valentine session. An appetizing lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patton, of 330 Jackson street, entertained on Sunday, Mrs. Knight Wallan, of Philadelphia.

Edward McBride, Jr., of Germantown, was a guest over the weekend of Paul Keating, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keating, of Radcliffe street.

ness to take an active part in the "every member" financial canvass

NO GLOOM IN RELIGION

The sense of humor has been called a saving grace. It has helped many to weather a storm and saved many others from a sound licking. Had the Kaiser possessed the gift the world might have been spared a frightful catastrophe. He took himself too seriously.

Even the Bible makes room for humor. Hear much-afflicted Job making sport of his three false comforters: "No doubt but ye are the people and wisdom shall die with you." In the story of the figs did not the three wise men from out of the East make a laughing stock of old Herod? And when the Pharisees told Jesus that another Herod was bent on doing him mischief he told them: "Go ye, and tell that fox."

Why shouldn't there be humor and mirth in all things? What is there wrong in a little innocent mirth in either bishops or red-blooded young people? There is no better safety valve than harmless amusement. Religion should not be a killjoy. Why should anyone give it a forbidding aspect? Religion that masks itself in gloom and despair is counterfeit and was outlived centuries ago.

Would those who complain that there is too much "pep" and pleasure in church activities for young people, have them skulk in dark corners to hatch mischief and go about to poison life with a glacial pessimism? Healthy youth must sing and smile and yell and if denied the right to blow off its excess energy in this manner within the church will go elsewhere to explode. The world long ago outlived the religion of melancholy piety and sadness.

YOUNGER WOMEN

An authority on hygiene and physical development is author of the statement that women are younger today at forty than ever and, at all ages, are healthier than the women of preceding generations.

A generation ago the average woman of forty was an old lady who wore a shawl across her shoulders while she sat by the fire and crocheted. She was well past the prime of life and "all tired out."

Today the woman of forty looks thirty, plays golf and tennis and drives an automobile during the day and dances or plays cards far into the night, and then is down first to breakfast in the morning fresh and ready for another day which would have been a killing pace in grand-mother's day.

One of the causes of this extraordinary healthfulness of the modern woman is the development of her clothing. She no longer wraps herself up like an Egyptian mummy, or loads herself down with pounds of heavy and superfluous raiment.

But hasn't woman's attitude toward herself contributed much to her transformation? Though a mother of seven she can now dance, swim, go in for the sports and driving, and dress youthfully without fear of social ostracism. No longer is the "respectable" woman's condition in life just two degrees removed from the absolute imprisonment of the harem.

The most appropriate punishment for the criminally reckless motorist is a sentence to perpetual pedestrianism.

BENSALEM GIRLS WIN;
BOYS LOSE A CONTEST

BENSALEM TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL, Cornwells Heights, Feb. 6.—During the past week Bensalem high school girls' basketball team gained another victory, when the sextet defeated Doylestown high's team, score ending 17 to 7.

Doylestown players were deserving of much credit, however, as the young women from up-county put up a game fight.

Line-up:
Bensalem—Thomas, (captain) rf; Budney, lf; Reichle, c; Baxter, sc; Barth, rg; Foerster, lg. Budney has 11 points to her credit for this splendid contest.

Substitutes for Bensalem, girls who played during the second half of the game are: Cobleigh, Russell, Page, Fechtenburg, and Underwood.

Doylestown's aggregation included: Waddington, rf; Lightcap, lf; Axenroth, c; Gehman, sc and c; Widener, rg; Rubinkam, lg.

The girls of the victorious team attribute much of their success to the fine coaching of Miss Ruth Hansen.

Bensalem high boys lost to the Langhorne five last Friday, when a basketball game was played at Gartner's Casino, Parkland. Score at end of the first half was 29 to 5; and the final count was 39 to 16.

Carter was high scorer for Langhorne, with Lacey totalling the greatest number of points for Bensalem.

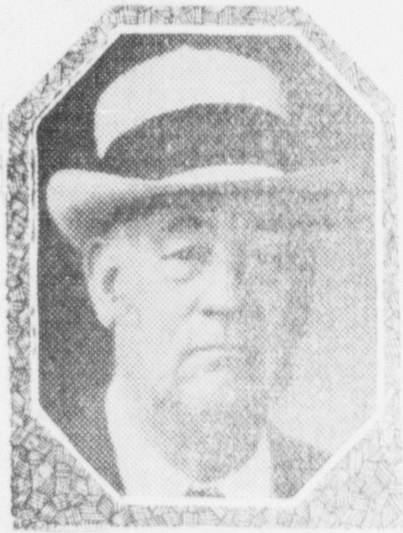

Despite the fact that Langhorne lost one of its star players, Berry, in the first half due to injuries, they continued their fine work, and came out ahead.

yellow-rimmed glasses. The sun glistened on his silvery hair as he slowly brought his club back. At the top of his swing his club seemed to quiver. Then he brought it down and through the ball, sending it whizzing straight as an arrow down the fairway for 160 yards. There was a smattering of applause from the brightly garbed gallery. And then, happy as a school boy, the famous philanthropist trudged down the fairway accompanied by his

Produce Man, 65, Praises New Medicine for Remarkable Improvement in Health

MR. JAMES MCCARD
"My work is easy since taking Konjola," said Mr. James McCard, 1427 Easton avenue, Bethlehem. "I was in poor health for two years from indigestion and constipation. I bloated and heaved from accumulated gases until I was in intense misery, and this condition seriously interfered with my daily tasks. Constipation was of years standing in my case, and daily cathartics were necessary for the function of my bowels."

"Just a few bottles of Konjola were sufficient to make a new man of me. I do not bloat after eating, and the pain in the pit of my stomach is a thing of the past. My appetite is good and I eat heartily. I have not suffered a day from constipation since I began taking this great medicine, and I am stronger and more vigorous than I have been in two years. I cannot say enough in praise of this great medicine."

Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffman's Cut Rate Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—(Adv.)

golfing companions and four colored caddies.

I was at the Rockefeller estate when Mr. Rockefeller's limousine returned from the links and pulled into the driveway, coming to a stop before the casements, a low, rambling two-story mansion overlooking the palm-lined Halifax River. His secretary, Nestor W. Davis, apprised Mr. Rockefeller of the presence of the International News Service correspondent. Graciously enough, the old gentleman said, "Tell him to come in."

Mr. Rockefeller had just emerged from the car, wearing a black top coat. He required no assistance, although he had been batting a golf ball around for nearly two hours. He extended his hand. His grip seemed fairly strong.

"How do you feel?" he was asked. "Never better," was his response. "My health is fine."

He put his arm around the reporter's shoulders and said with sincerity: "And I am grateful for this blessing of good health. I am also grateful for having so many good friends. My friends are so good to me. I am really very happy.

"How is your golf?" we ventured, having learned that he usually shoots his daily eight nines in about 48.

"Pretty good," he replied, philosophically. "I've been at it twenty-five or thirty years and I hope I am improving."

A smile lit up his face, tanned from the Florida sun.

"You were particularly good with your brassie when I watched you last year," I reminded him.

"I've been getting some pretty fair second shots," he replied, modestly.

He began fishing in his pocket. The writer suggested that inasmuch as a year ago Mr. Rockefeller had given him two new dimes for his two daughters it would not be necessary to do so again. But he insisted on this little evidence of friendliness and good will.

"My last two dimes!" he exclaimed as he jerked them over. "I am starting life anew in the morning."

And laughing over this dire prospect he walked up the steps and into his home.
